

Research-Community Partnerships in Child Welfare

Research-Community Partnerships in Child Welfare

EDITORS

Sophie Léveillé

Centre of Excellence for Child Welfare at l'École de service social, Université de Montréal

Nico Trocmé

Centre of Excellence for Child Welfare and Centre for Research on Children and Families, School of Social Work, McGill University

Ivan Brown

Centre of Excellence for Child Welfare at Factor-Inwentash Faculty of Social Work, University of Toronto

Claire Chamberland

Centre of Excellence for Child Welfare, Grave (Groupe de recherche et d'action sur la victimisation des enfants), and l'École de service social, Université de Montréal

CENTRES OF EXCELLENCE FOR CHILDREN'S WELL-BEING CENTRES D'EXCELLENCE POUR LE BIEN-ÊTRE DES ENFANTS

Child Welfare / La protection et le bien-être des enfants

Research-Community Partnerships in Child Welfare

Copyright © 2011 Sophie Léveillé, Nico Trocmé, Ivan Brown, and Claire Chamberland
All rights reserved.

Reprint and Terms of Use

Research-Community Partnerships in Child Welfare may be reprinted or copied, in whole or in part, for educational, service, or research purposes without consent from the editors or authors. For all other purposes, written permission to reprint or use is required. Requests for written permission should be sent to Ivan Brown at ivan.brown@utoronto.ca

Research-Community Partnerships in Child Welfare has been made possible through funding from the Public Health Agency of Canada. The views expressed herein do not necessarily represent the views of the Public Health Agency of Canada, or those of the editors. Much of the research reported in this book was funded through a Canadian Institutes of Health Research grant for an initiative entitled Canadian Child Welfare Research Partnership. Every reasonable effort has been made to ensure necessary permissions, but errors or omissions should be brought to the attention of Ivan Brown at ivan.brown@utoronto.ca

Suggested Citation (APA)

Léveillé, S., Trocmé, N., Brown, I., & Chamberland, C. (Eds.) (2010). Research-community partnerships in child welfare. Toronto, ON: Centre of Excellence for Child Welfare / Centre d'excellence pour la protection et le bien-être des enfants (<http://www.cwrp.ca>)

Availability

Research-Community Partnerships in Child Welfare may be downloaded free of charge from the Canadian Child Welfare Research Portal <http://www.cwrp.ca>

Hard copies may also be purchased for $35 from Centre for Research on Children and Families, McGill University, 3506 University St. Montreal, PQ, H3A 2A7

ISBN: 978-0-7727-7896-3

Cover design and layout

Ted Myerscough

Assistants to the editors

Véronique Bouchard, Juanito Anga-Angan, Amélie Tremblay-Renaud

Proofreading

Megan Gasparotto, Kate Allan, Linda Chambers, Shirley Brown,
Judee Duran, Véronique Bouchard, Jenn Root, Jennifer Ma

Printed and bound in Toronto, Canada by PrintCor

To the late Paul Steinhauer who was seminal both in the formation of the Centres of Excellence for Children's Well-Being Program, and the Centre of Excellence for Child Welfare.

CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	ix
FOREWORD Nancy Edwards	xi
PREFACE Research-Community Partnerships in the Canadian Child Welfare Context Sophie Léveillé, Nico Trocmé, Ivan Brown, and Claire Chamberland	xv
CHAPTER ONE Research-Community Partnerships: A Systematic Synthesis of Qualitative Research Michael Saini and Sophie Léveillé	1
CHAPTER TWO Evidence-Based Management in Child Welfare: Researchers and Decision-makers Working Hand in Hand Nico Trocmé, Wendy Thomson, and Claude Laurendeau	43
CHAPTER THREE The Maltreatment and Adolescent Pathways (MAP) Project Feasibility Study: Are Youth Involved with Child Protection Services a Feasible Sub-population for Study? Christine Wekerle, Randall Waechter, Maria Chen, Eman Leung, Anne-Marie Wall, Tara Nassar, Bruce Leslie, Deborah Goodman, and Brenda Moody	59
CHAPTER FOUR University-Government Partnerships for Examining Issues Relating to Children with Disabilities Coming in the Care of Mandated Child Welfare Agencies Don M. Fuchs and Linda Burnside	91
CHAPTER FIVE Supporting Secondary Analyses of the Canadian Incidence Studies of Reported Child Abuse and Neglect (CIS): Partnerships with the Child Welfare Community Barbara Fallon, Nico Trocmé, Bruce Maclaurin, Della Knoke, Tara Black, Caroline Felstiner, and Cindy Blackstock	109

CHAPTER SIX
Evaluating Family Group Conferencing in a First Nation Setting: An Example of University-First Nation Child Welfare Agency Collaboration
Fred Wien and Joan Glode	139
CHAPTER SEVEN
Respite Care Partnerships Addressing Young Children Living at Home and Followed by Child Welfare
Marie-Andrée Poirier, Danielle Lessard, and Isabelle Perreault	155
CHAPTER EIGHT
Wood's Homes - University of Calgary, Faculty of Social Work Innovative Partnership
Susan Gardiner, Bjorn Johansson, Ann Lawson, Bruce MacLaurin, and Janet McFarlane	171
CHAPTER NINE
Research-Practice Partnership in Developing Services for Neglect
Carl Lacharité and Guylaine Fafard	193
CHAPTER TEN
Treatment Foster Care: Children's Voices and Perspectives
Nitza Perlman, Barry Isaacs, Anne Pleydon, and Kevin Sullivan	209
CHAPTER ELEVEN
An Evaluation of Canadian Research-Community Partnerships in Child Welfare
Sophie Léveillé, Claire Chamberland, Nico Trocmé and Ivan Brown	231
CHAPTER TWELVE
Research Partnerships in Child Welfare: Synthesis and Future Directions
Ivan Brown, Nico Trocmé, Claire Chamberland and Sophie Léveillé	279
ABSTRACTS / RÉSUMÉS	299
LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS	317
INDEX - NAMES	331
INDEX - SUBJECT	348

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Edited books rely on both the expertise and the goodwill of the authors of the various chapters. This book would not have been possible were it not for the willing cooperation of the chapter authors and all those with whom they collaborated in carrying out their research. Partnership research, in particular, requires support from the participating organizations and institutions, as well as from dedicated people within them to move the projects forward. To all these, we express our gratitude. Finally, we thank the many children, youth, and adults who agreed to take part in the projects as participants.

The editors are grateful to their institutions for providing a great deal of in-kind support for the preparation of this book. In particular, we wish to acknowledge l'École de service social, l'Université de Montréal (Léveillé and Chamberland); the Centre for Research on Children and Families, School of Social Work, McGill University (Trocmé); and the Factor-Inwentash Faculty of Social Work, University of Toronto (Brown).

All of the research reported in this book emerged from the research program of the Centre of Excellence for Child Welfare (2000-2010) funded by the Public Health Agency of Canada. Although the views expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the views of the Public Health Agency of Canada, the editors acknowledge the strong support of the Agency over the ten year mandate of the program. Additional generous funding came from the Canadian Institutes of Health Research, and some work was funded by the Factor-Inwentash Faculty of Social Work, University of Toronto.

The editors are especially grateful for the ongoing support of the Centre of Excellence for Child Welfare. In particular, we wish to thank the Centre's directors and their institutions – Cheryl Regher and Aron Schlonsky (University of Toronto), Nico Trocmé (McGill University), Claire Chamberland (Université de Montréal), Peter Dudding (Child Welfare League of Canada), and Cindy Blackstock (First Nations Child & Family Caring Society of Canada). We also wish to thank the dedicated staff at the various locations, and to the many partners – individuals, groups, and organizations – we enjoyed over the ten years of the Centre's work.

Research-Community Partnerships in Child Welfare